The description is displayed as a tool tip when you move the mouse over a folder.

The folder link contains the same function as the document link. The difference is that the link refers to the folder instead of a patent.

It is also possible here to link a file or a website.

There is also another function that allows you to attach not patent literature or unpublished patent specifications to a folder.

As soon as a link has been added, this will be displayed accordingly in the folders.

Filter

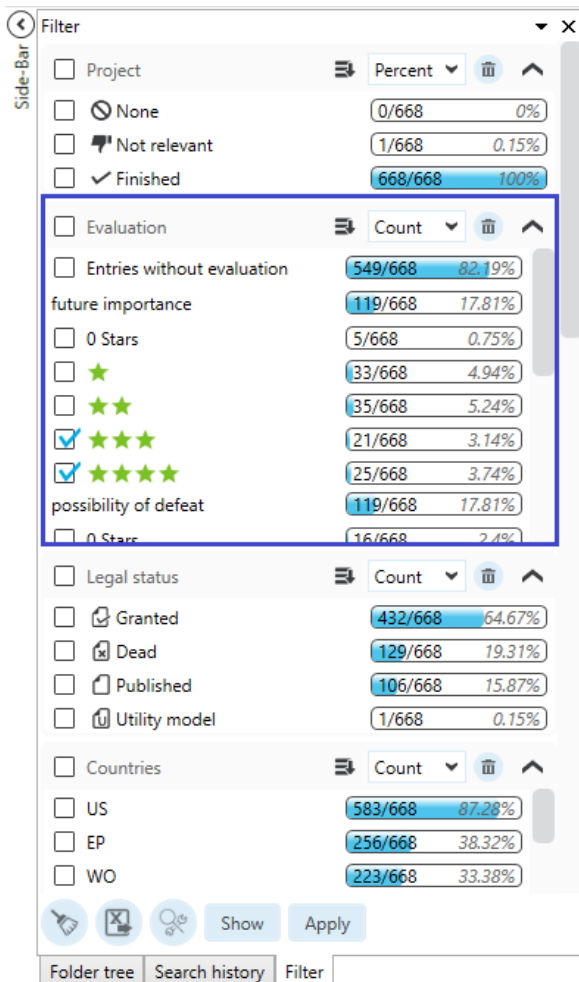

In general, the display of the filter has been improved.

It is now even clearer and can display more information in the visible area.

(less scrolling required).

The filter has also been optimized to shorten loading times.

In addition, we have now added the evaluation to the filter. This gives you the opportunity to analyze and filter your results based on the evaluations.

Search for document links

It is now possible to search for saved document links.

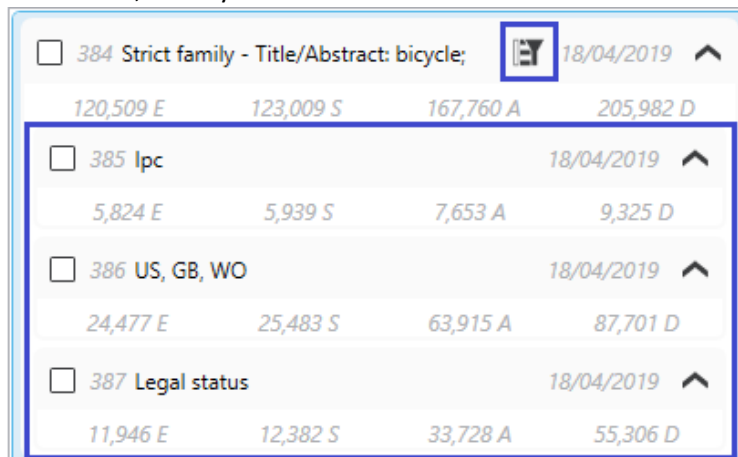

The Advanced License provides you with the "Document Link" search block for this purpose.

History

The history display has been updated and improved.

In addition, history entries are now created when the user filters a result.

The display is grouped accordingly.

The results of the filter are listed below the result of the search.

Improvements

- The result list has been optimized
 - o Faster/smooth scrolling in the result list
 - o RAM increases significantly more slowly (scrolling through results)
- Your automatic searches will now be executed in alphabetical order
- Report for the automatic search is displayed in the e-mail text in addition to the Excel list
- You can search for patents with no evaluation and for the latest evaluation
- Search for detailed patent number no longer displays "Kind of document" field when searching for application numbers
- The family diagram can also be exported to Word
- Searches can be exported directly as text

Bug fixes

- A program crash after entering an invalid key combination was fixed.
- In the graphical analysis, the IPC/CPC tree was not automatically refreshed when the linked result list has been updated
